

WHERE BABY WENT

Mistake of Farmer's Wife Who Thought Bear Was Husband.

Atton, Va., Feb. 8.—Mrs. James Ingram, wife of a young farmer, lost her infant in a fearful manner a few days ago. It was agreed that her husband should meet her at a fence near a small body of woods, take their child and accompany her to the home of a neighbor, where there was to be a dance. When the young woman reached the fence she saw a figure dimly outlined on the other side. Believing it to be her husband she handed the child over as she climbed the lower panel.

To her amazement the figure disappeared without a word, taking the baby with it. Frantic with fear, she called her husband, whom she met coming toward the fence. The alarm was given and a search made, but nothing could be found except the tracks towards the mountains. There is no doubt but that the bear devoured the child.

Even From The Mountains

Barren's Snow-Laden mountain for the most part. A few days ago the snow was so deep that it was impossible to go out. The snow was so deep that it was impossible to go out. The snow was so deep that it was impossible to go out.

Destiny.

Whenever a statesman is asked to defend a thing which he wants to have done he usually hides behind the plea that it is destiny. That the readers of the Commonwealth may be able to answer this destiny argument the following quotation is given from the "Last of the Barons," by Bulwer, William of Hastings is described as laying his sins at the door of destiny, and the author makes this comment: "It is destiny!—phrase of the weak human heart! It is destiny! Dark apology for every error! The strong and virtuous admit no destiny! On earth guides conscience—in heaven, watches God. And destiny is but the phantom we invoke to silence the one, to dethrone the other."

Each man's destiny is in his own hands so far as his moral progress is concerned. If a man is going to be a thief, circumstances may determine whether it is his destiny to escape punishment or to be caught, but the man decides for himself the all important question whether he will be a thief. And so circumstances may determine how much profit or how little profit a country can find in a policy of imperialism, but the country itself must decide—the people or those whom the people permit to speak for them—what the policy of the country will be—Destiny is indeed the dark apology for many national errors.—The Commonwealth.

THE MAN WHO BUILT OUR RAILROAD DEAD.

Capt. S. S. Brown Worth Only $3,000,000 Instead of $15,000,000

Pittsburgh, Feb. 6.—(Special.)—The late Capt. S. S. Brown, noted horseman and coal operator, was worth at the time of his death, $15,000,000 instead of $3,000,000, as was reported at first. This was learned today by the filing of the first account by the executors of the estate, W. Harry Brown and the Union Trust Company.

Several startling features marked the accounting. The libraries, at the city and country homes of the deceased, which he estimated were worth $50,000 are appraised at only $133, while the famous Astoria Cup, won by Capt. Brown's racing stable, is valued at only $50. The cup and libraries were bequeathed to Miss Lewis, who has since married a man named Porter, one of Capt. Brown's betting commissioners. Miss Lewis also inherited thirty bonds of the Pittsburgh Brewing Company, for accepting which she was forced to resign as a Sabbath-School teacher in the Mary S. Brown Memorial chapel. These bonds are valued by the executors at $33,000. Sixty shares of stock in the Latonia race track were sold by the executors for $13,440 while 240 shares in the Memphis Jockey Club brought $15,000. The stock in the Lexington track has been retained, it is said, by Harry Brown who also continues the racing stable of his deceased brother.

The yacht Troubadour, in which Capt. Brown took many hunting trips to the Red river country, has been sold for $2,000, much less than it cost the late owner to furnish the craft.

Situations Guaranteed.

We do not guarantee situations to prospective students in order to get their patronage. Schools of merit do not resort to such dishonest practices. Fake schools "guarantee" situations in order to secure students, because they have no other inducements to offer. Our work is so thorough that a guarantee is superfluous. Business men are so eager to get competent help here that a large percentage of our students take positions before they graduate. See us before making arrangements for your business and shorthand education at some inferior, fake school. We will take pleasure in telling you all about the opportunities in the position guarantee of our highest schools. Catalogue free.

OLLIE JAMES

Secures Appropriation That Will Greatly Benefit Our Farmers.

Representative Ollie James, of this district, secured in the Lower House of Congress last week an amendment to the agricultural appropriation bill whereby part of the $150,000 fund appropriated for examination of extermination of insects destructive of agriculture is given for purpose of investigating tobacco worms and insects injurious tobacco.

The house, after a speech from Mr. James on the subject and regardless of the opposition of chairman of the committee, Mr. Wadsworth, sustained Mr. James and included tobacco insects in the investigation.

Mr. James said that tobacco growers in Western Kentucky and Tennessee, to which the amendment applies, are already hampered by the government placing a tax of 6 cents a pound on leaf tobacco, which enables the trusts control the markets.

He said that he made his appeal in behalf of the tobacco growers of the Dark Tobacco region, and thought it only justice that part of the appropriation should be used for their relief.

The Limit of Life.

The most eminent medical scientists are unanimous in the conclusion that the generally accepted limitation of human life is many years below the attainment possible with the advanced knowledge of which the race is now possessed. The critical period, that determines its duration, seems to be between 50 and 60; the proper care of the body during this decade cannot be too strongly urged. Carelessness then being fatal to longevity Nature's best helper after 50 is Electric Bitters, the scientific tonic medicine that revitalizes every organ of the body. Guaranteed by J. H.
